County Budget...Proposed Raises to Stay

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
The proposal to raise Ulster County's employees minimum salary to $5,000 seemed to sit very well with the several hundred persons who attended Tuesday night's public hearing on the $37.7 million budget for 1974 but there were some strong pitches for "across the board" increases for everyone, in excess of 5.5 guidelines.

The County Legislature, which met in executive session following the hearing at the County Office Building, set Dec. 4 as the date for an official vote on the budget and in spite of the hearing rhetoric, changed little in the budget.

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago said today that the county will not revise the salary schedule above the 5.5

guidelines for those earning over $5,000 until a salary study is made in cooperation with the Civil Service Employees Association.

The county board, during executive session, did agree to raise the coroner salary from $2,500 to $2,750 and raise the election commission's salaries from $12,660 to $13,000. Raises were also approved for two assistant probation officers and one stenographer.

The cost to the taxpayers for the 1974 budget is estimated at $9.7 million, up $1.6 million from 1973.

The speakers and the spectators were many. Civil Service Employee Association representatives praised the raising of the minimum wage and local CSEA President John Donnaruma, echoing that sentiment, said that the union appreciated "what has been done for us." He congratulated the Legislature and revealed plans for a wage and salary schedule study which would "bring into reasonable lines" all salaries in the future.

A spectator, who did not reveal his name interrupted, calling Donnaruma's statement "a sellout," adding, "How can you in good conscience say that?"

A former CSEA president, Judy Murray, a public health nurse, also disagreed, saying she supported the minimum $5,000 wage but asked, "what about grades eight through 17? We are the middle guys who pay for everyone else." A 5.5 per cent wage increase doesn't do much in the market. We fall behind every year.

salaries are not equitable," she said. Many employees present applauded her statements.

Attilio Contini came out in favor of 5.5 guidelines saying they should be adhered to. "To do otherwise, would be to feed the fires of inflation."

Julius Sippen, speaking as a resident taxpayer and regional director of the Ladies Garment Workers Union said he was appalled at the low wages paid by the county. "The $5,000 figure should have been obsolete years ago." He asked that the entire pay scale be assessed for all levels of employees to "keep up with the cost of living."

Although most legislators in attendance took the position of listeners at the hearing, Clarence Raichle (R-City), referring to the pleas for across the board increases in excess of 5.5 per cent guidelines, said there were only two ways to pay for such increases—assess the real property owners or raise the sales tax from seven to nine per cent. "We have to find the money somewhere," he concluded.

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago also pointed out that some salaries of department heads were raised considerably this year because, according to law, such posts as the sheriff, district attorney and treasurer can only be raised during the year that they are seeking office, (every three years).

The president of United University Professionals at New Paltz, Samuel Shaw, also praised the raising of the minimum wage to $5,000 (some employees have been receiving wages as low as $3,613) but he thinks the salaries should be raised across the board "so people here who run the county look a little better. It is a matter of county dignity. You owe it to yourselves," he suggested.

A petition, signed by 87 of 108 employees of the Social Services Department was submitted by James Davis, senior caseworker, who said that welfare employees in Ulster receive less than in other counties, that there is a rapid turnover. Davis revealed that the department lost 40 members in the past 11 months. He pointed out that the department receives federal government reimbursement in the amount of 87½ per cent and therefore, he feels that the $1,387 increase being given those earning under $5,000 should also be allocated to those in higher salary grades—two through 17.

"This would serve to attract and keep capable servants," he said.

The "We've Had It Taxpayers' Association," represented by its president, Alice Tipp, urged "a move to a new plateau over the next two to five years."

Mrs. Tipp said WHITA concurred with the call for a wage and salary study, and pointed out the percentage of increases going to department heads and legislators, increases which she said "were not in order."

Local radio personality Harry Thayer was not able to attend but sent an eight-page statement which was read in which he too concurred with the $5,000 minimum and felt that the raises for the legislators themselves are "reasonable." He also took issue with numerous budget items.

State Budget Surplus May Pass $200 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The latest tax-collection figures indicate that the state budget surplus may be five times larger than projected by the administration of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The size of the surplus for the current 1973-74 fiscal year has been a key question in the debate over state subsidies for mass transit.

The governor met with New York Mayor-elect Abraham Beame Tuesday to discuss ways of averting a threatened boost in New York City's 35-cent subway and bus fare.

The fare may be raised to as high as 60 cents unless the city or state rescues the deficit-ridden transit system with at least $100 million in aid immediately, transit officials have said.

In its midyear budget summary, however, Rockefeller's Budget Division predicted a year-end surplus of only $52 million.

In the personal income tax category, the largest single source of state revenue, the administration anticipated a $260-million increase in collections over last year.

The year-end total would rise from $3.07 billion for 1972-73 to $3.33 billion this year, the report said. Most of these additional funds are needed for increased state expenditures.

But the monthly New York State Bulletin, which summarizes state financial operations, lists $2.19 billion in income tax collections already for the first seven months of this fiscal year.

This seven-month figure can be projected over 12 months in two ways.

Simply multiplying the monthly average of the first seven months by a factor of 12 produces a year-end total of $3.81 billion, representing a $700-million jump over last year's total.

A perhaps more accurate assessment can be obtained by comparing this year's figures with last year's. The total income tax collections for the first seven months of 1972-73 were $1.88 billion. The year-end total was $3.07 billion. If the tax performs similarly this year, the final total will be in the neighborhood of $3.57 billion, $243 million more than predicted in the midyear summary.

The sales tax and other user taxes are already running $216 million ahead of last year's seven-month total. The Budget Division predicted only a $197-million rise for the entire 1973-74 fiscal year.

Projecting these consumption and use tax collections on the basis of last year's performance yields a year-end total of $3.42 billion, about $250 million more than forecast by the Budget Division.

Business taxes have kept only slightly ahead of the Budget estimates.

The unofficial estimates on income tax revenues must be scaled down because of an "over-withholding" problem in income tax collections. Many taxpayers have not claimed their full exemptions for withholding purposes, so they will receive large refunds next year.

The degree of the problem is disputed. As it did last year, the Budget Division plans to set aside $150 million in a reserve fund for these refunds. Many Democratic critics of Rockefeller's fiscal practices have contended that this reserve is too large.

The administration also plans to create an $80-million reserve for refunding the 2½ per cent income tax surcharge, which was suspended by the legislature this year. But this reserve may also be overestimated, since fiscal experts said earlier this year that suspension of the surcharge would cost only $50 million.

Even granting the validity of these reserve funds, the tax collection figures so far this year would indicate a budget surplus of at least $230 million, based on the three major tax categories and comparing current figures with last year's tax trends. The three major categories account for 94 per cent of state revenue.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has pegged this year's surplus at between $200 million and $300 million.

Rockefeller's Democratic opponents have charged repeatedly this year that the governor was hiding a huge surplus in order to put the state in a comfortable financial position before the 1974 state elections.

Fuel Cuts...Drastic Plans Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With warnings the nation could reach a minimum operable supply of fuel oil as early as next month, the administration is intensively studying a series of possible energy saving measures.

According to The Associated Press, President Nixon is giving no thought to banning automobile driving on Sundays, one of his top aides said today.

Director Roy L. Ash of the Office of Management and Budget ruled out consideration of any Sunday ban on driving, but said Nixon is considering proposals to prohibit the sale of gasoline on Sunday.

John Love, President Nixon's energy chief, told reporters Tuesday the administration may have an announcement as early as today on the question of Sunday gas sales. Other administration officials, however, including Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, said the White House was still studying a variety of proposals made by the administration's Special Action Group, and probably would not announce any decisions until next week.

Morton, addressing GOP governors in Memphis, warned that if "steps are not taken quickly, at the present rate we're drawing down (draining) fuel, we will reach minimum operating inventories of residual oil, distillates and gasoline during the month of January, perhaps even during the month of November."

Morton said among the steps being considered by the administration were plans for fuel cuts of 30 per cent in passenger cars, 15 per cent in home heating, 25 per cent in commercial heating, 20 per cent by utilities and 20 per cent by airlines.

"If we can save two or three gallons per week per car, we can put a million barrels of oil a day into other needed areas," he said.

In other energy developments:

—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., joined by 19 colleagues in the Senate, issued a statement calling for maximum production of fuel oil and a proportional cutback in gasoline refinement. The statement, along with a letter to Nixon, called for gasoline rationing at the pumps to establish "an equitable distribution of reduced gasoline supplies."

—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, called together members of his committee along with the public works, atomic energy and commerce committees to look at a condensation of a two-year, 5,000 page report on natural gas supplies and controls with a series of major policy options, including ending price controls of gas at the point of production.

—The American Petroleum Institute, an oil industry association, said oil executives have been warning about the impending fuel crisis for nearly 20 years.

In Europe, Common Market foreign ministers drafted a new stand on the Middle East conflict Tuesday aimed at guaranteeing oil supplies to all nine members, including Holland, the target of a total Arab petroleum boycott.

Officials said the market's new Middle East position, still secret, leans in favor of the Arabs, following the tone of a Nov. 6 resolution calling on Israel to pull out of occupied territory.

Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani arrived in Copenhagen Tuesday night and said he might meet with Danish officials for a briefing on the new European stand.

Energy Crisis Boosts Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose sharply last month following September's slowdown, owing partly to the energy crisis and higher prices for fuel oil and gasoline, the government said today.

The Department of Labor reported that the cost of living climbed eight-tenths of one per cent in October and pushed consumer prices up 7.9 per cent above a year ago. It marked the largest jump in any 12-month period since the 8.7 per cent inflationary rate recorded in the June 1950-51 period at the start of the Korean War.

In addition to sharply higher prices for gasoline and fuel oil, rising costs for clothing, mortgage interest rates and health insurance contributed significantly to the October rise in prices, the government said.

A decline in meat and poultry prices was more than offset in the statistics by large increases in prices of restaurant meals and some food and some grocery store prices.

Food prices rose one-tenth of a per cent following a drop of seven-tenths of a per cent in September and a record 6 per cent jump in August. The increase was larger on a seasonally adjusted basis, increasing five-tenths of a per cent compared with a drop of one-tenth of a per cent on that basis in September.

Grocery prices actually declined three-tenths of a per cent but the drop was offset by a 1.8 per cent jump in food purchased away from home, including restaurant meals and snacks.

Poultry, egg and pork prices fell sharply again—as they did in September — and prices for beef and veal declined as well, but prices for most other food sold in grocery stores went up, the government said.

Prices for nonfood commodities jumped nine-tenths of one per cent, sharpest this year and the biggest jump since a one per cent increase in October 1970. Seasonally adjusted, the increase was five-tenths of a per cent. Services, including rents, mortgage payments and medical fees rose 1.1 per cent, an increase not equaled since March 1970.

The over-all rise in living costs last month followed a three-tenths of a per cent rise in September and the near-record jump of 1.8 per cent in August after the lifting of the government's price freeze.

Although food price increases have moderated, the price spurt in nonfood commodities and services appears to reflect an economy still gripped in inflation.

The consumer price index in October moved up to 136.6, meaning that it cost consumers $136.6 to purchase a variety of goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

The Labor Department also reported that real spendable earnings of American workers, which is the take-home pay after taxes, fell six-tenths of a per cent in October and was 3.3 per cent below a year ago.

City Man Strangled to Death

KINGSTON

A 23-year-old woman was charged with murder by Kingston Police Tuesday night after she allegedly strangled a 65-year-old man with a piece of twine.

Police arrested Maryann Parker, also known as Maryann Pegram, following several hours of questioning concerning the death of George Chichelsky. Both Miss Parker and Chichelsky lived at 33 Broadway.

Police Chief Julius M. Glassman said today that there were two witnesses to the alleged strangulation murder — Maryann Parker's sister, Katie Parker, 31, also of 33 Broadway, and Katie Parker's 15-year-old son, whose name is being withheld.

Glassman said police were called to 33 Broadway at about 7:50 p. m. by Katie Parker.

According to Glassman, the two witnesses, the suspect and Chichelsky were on the first floor of the two-story building when the alleged murder occurred. Katie Parker and her son were in the front of the building, which contains Chichelsky's Furniture Store. Maryann Parker and Chichelsky were in the back of the building, which contains a kitchen.

Glassman said the two witnesses reported hearing a choking sound from the kitchen and went to the door to the kitchen where they allegedly saw Maryann Parker choking Chichelsky. The police chief said the witnesses told authorities they pleaded with Maryann and no physical attempts were made to stop her. Katie Parker then left the building and summoned police from a nearby telephone.

Maryann Parker made no attempt to leave the scene and was there when police arrived, Glassman said.

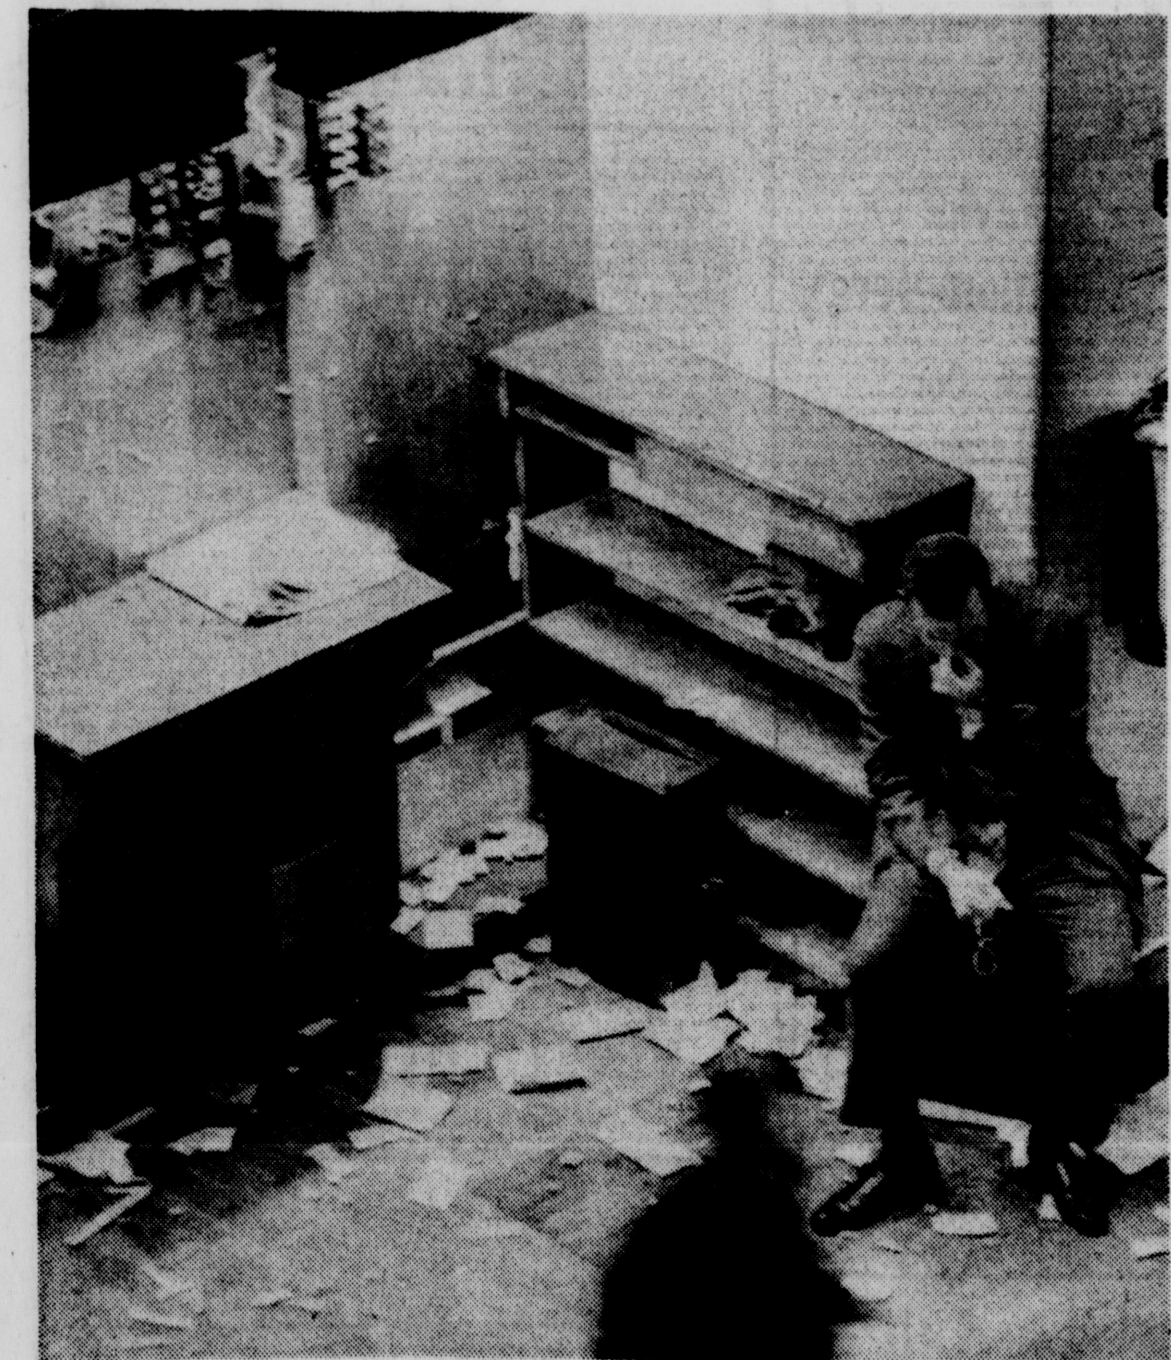

Doctor's Ambulance was summoned and Chichelsky was rushed to Kingston Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed this morning to determine the exact cause of death.

Glassman said there was no apparent motive for the alleged murder. He added that there was reportedly an argument earlier in the evening between Maryann Parker and the dead man over money which Chichelsky accused the two Parker sisters of taking from him. The argument lasted only a few minutes, Glassman said, and it had apparently been settled.

A piece of twine allegedly used to commit the murder was found "on the premises," Glassman said. The twine, which apparently came from a roll used in the furniture store, was tied in a loop, the police chief said. There was no evidence of a struggle in the kitchen, Glassman said. Chichelsky and Maryann Parker had only been alone in the kitchen for a short time before the alleged strangulation took place, according to information given police.

Miss Parker was arraigned on the murder charge before City Judge Hubert A. Richter. She was ordered held without bail pending a re-appearance in court Friday.

A BAD DAY—A somber mood of the New York Stock Exchange is reflected by this one exchange employee taking a break after closing. Prices on the NYSE fell Tuesday to their lowest level in two years in heavy trading generated by concern over energy problems and fears of a recession. Dow Jones Industrial Average plunged 17.76 points on top of a drop of 28.67. It closed at 844.90, its lowest since Nov. 30, 1971. However, the Market opened higher today. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

KYSERIKE from Superintendent of Schools Robert Robertaccio for steps to conserve heating fuel, electricity and gasoline — including development of curricula in all schools for the teaching of energy conservation.

The school board accepted numerous recommendations and installing a burglar alarm system at the school bus garage was discussed Tuesday night, but the board delayed any action pending further cost studies. The building has been entered several times recently, it was noted, with tools and equipment valued at some $2,000 reportedly stolen.

The board agreed to donate old and outdated textbooks to Daniel Smiley of Mohonk Mountain who, in turn, will ship them, at his own expense, to schools in Nigeria, Africa.

It was announced that the price of a half-pint of white milk has been reduced from 10 cents to five cents (chocolate milk will cost six cents), because of recent increases in federal subsidies.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the CSEA was recognized as negotiating unit for the school district's cafeteria workers; tax adjustments totaling some $600 were approved; health service tuition for non-resident students was set at $22; 54 teachers were granted salary increases after completing graduate courses; and board member Katherine Wagenfohr reported on her trip to the New York State School Board's Association conference in Syracuse recently.

Woodstock Board Adopts '74 Budget

WOODSTOCK The Woodstock Town Board adopted a $649,086 budget for 1974 at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The 1974 budget is some $83,000 higher than the 1973 budget, and the amount to be raised by taxes next year is some $13,000 higher than this year. But with all that, town board officials expect residents to receive a tax decrease for town purposes next year. According to the 1974 budget, $411,660 will have to be raised by taxes next year, compared to $398,582.25 in 1973. A $1.44 per $1,000 tax decrease, however, is anticipated for town purposes.

A breakdown shows town residents will pay $10.04 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for the general and highway funds, compared to $11.48 per $1,000 in 1973. Both the general fund and highway fund figures have been decreased.

Town officials explained that unanticipated revenues collected in 1973 were transferred to the unexpended balance of the 1973 budget and will be used to lower the tax rate in 1974.

In other matters, the town board set two public hearings: Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. on improvement of the facilities in the Woodstock Water District and Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. for proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance concerning cluster development.

Two resignations were "regretfully" accepted Tuesday: Benjamin Webster from the Planning Board, and Bernard Wilens from the Zoning Board of Appeals. Charles Lippincott was appointed as Woodstock's representative to the Ulster County Planning Board, replacing Webster.

Car Salesman Found Guilty

NEW YORK (UPI) — Allan Handler, a 31-year-old Newburgh car salesman, was convicted Tuesday night of lying to a federal grand jury investigating gambling and official corruption in Orange County.

A jury of nine men and three women in federal court returned a verdict of guilty on three of the seven counts against Handler after about five hours of deliberation.

In an unusual move, Handler then changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on two other counts. The remaining two counts were dismissed with the consent of the government.

Handler was convicted of lying when he testified he did not make protection payoffs to former Newburgh police Sgt. William Lee.

The two other counts on which he was convicted were that he lied when he denied he had any employees in his policy operation and when he denied having admitted Newburgh gambler Dolores Mitchell pay protection money for him.

Handler admitted he lied when he denied he knew convicted gambler Anthony Politi of New Rochelle and when he denied that money and policy slips were delivered to places in Orange County other than Newburgh.

The two counts which were dismissed alleged that Handler had kicked suspected gambler Robert Price for interfering in Handler's gambling operations, ing scheduled Dec. 3.

McKneally died Sunday. Handler remained free in $2,000 cash bail pending a hearing scheduled Dec. 3.

Toughest Issue of Talks

Israel, Egypt Discuss Withdrawals

By United Press International
Israel and Egypt worked on bargaining formulas today aimed at settling the toughest issue of the Middle East cease-fire talks—a dispute over troop withdrawals near the Suez Canal.

The troop pullback question was the last unresolved section of the six-point cease-fire pact, but there was no indication either Israel or Egypt was prepared to compromise.

Negotiators attempting to break the impasse scheduled a meeting in the Egyptian desert Thursday, exactly one month after the Oct. 22 call by the United Nations for an end to the Middle East war.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram said today the desert truce talks would be "decisive." It quoted official Egyptian sources as saying they expect both sides to present their final positions at Thursday's meeting.

The Israeli cabinet met in emergency session Tuesday for nearly five hours to debate the pullbacks.

"These are delicate negotiations," an Israeli source in Jerusalem said. "This is far more important because it encompasses a movement of troops, which would be a noted change in the situation. The other things thus far have only been technical."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Tuesday he still expects full-scale Middle East peace talks to get under way within weeks. Only last Friday Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir ruled out a peace conference before next year because of Israeli elections on Dec. 31.

"We don't have any specific overall plan, but we do have a number of principles," Kissinger er said. "We hope to get them (the talks) started within the next few weeks."

Egypt has repeatedly called on Israel to withdraw to positions held on Oct. 22, but Israel has refused, contending the lines can't be reconstructed. Israel has suggested both sides withdraw to positions held before the war, but Egypt has refused.

Israel said its troops foiled an Egyptian attempt to cross the Suez Canal in a barge Tuesday.

One of eight incidents described as Egyptian cease-fire violations. The army radio also reported a single clash on the cease-fire line with Syria.

The radio said 58 trucks loaded with food and medicine passed through U.N. checkpoints Tuesday, nearly doubling the daily supply to encircled Suez City.

The radio said Egypt delayed the scheduled return of about 25 Israeli bodies, the remains of troops killed during the fighting outside Suez last month.

Both sides continued their exchange of prisoners, with Israel having released nearly 8,000 of a total 8,400 Egyptian POWs and Egypt sending home 209 of 238 Israeli captives.

"Distinctive Gifts for Discerning Shoppers"

Thanksgiving Spacewalk Is Planned

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts, who are having difficulty with such simple chores as tying their shoelaces, have been given a shopping list of jobs they should perform during a Thanksgiving spacewalk that may turn into man's longest stay outside an orbiting spacecraft.

Commander Gerald P. Carr, scientist Edward G. Gibson and pilot William R. Pogue ran additional medical tests on each other to check their adaptation to zero gravity and to see if they're fit to work outside the ship Thanksgiving Day.

Flight officials said Tuesday they would not be at all surprised if the space fliers break the Skylab 2 record of 6½ hours for working outside an orbiting craft.

The rookie astronauts have been given a long list of chores to perform while floating 270 miles in space, including replacement of film in solar study cameras and repair work on an earth-sensing instrument.

"The crew's completely recovered from motion sickness," flight director Neil Hutchinson said. "It wouldn't surprise me if they're out seven hours. There's no reason at all (the spacewalk) couldn't go on longer than six or seven or even eight hours."

Hutchinson said there would be constant reassessments by ground controllers during the spacewalk to make sure all the tasks could be finished in one day. If the work is progressing more slowly than expected, he said, the men will venture out again Friday.

Gibson reported Tuesday he still becomes disoriented sometimes in the cavernous eight-room, 114-foot-long spaceship.

"One interesting thing I've noticed in the effect of zero-G (gravity) ... is that I can move into a given room sideways or upside down and not recognize it," the 37-year-old space scientist said in a taped conversation to doctors.

Gibson said on Earth people let gravity unconsciously help them do the simplest things, but in weightlessness one has to think about them.

"We've noticed it's very hard to tie our shoes," he said.

Gibson said he is able to realize where he is in the room by rotating his body to the way he had worked in space station mockups on the ground.

"It's as though your mind won't recognize the situation you're in until it sees it pretty much in the old standard way."

Former Premier of Greece Reported Under House Arrest

ATHENS (UPI) — Former Premier Panayotis Kanelopoulos, overthrown in 1967 by a group of army colonels led by President George Papadopoulos, was one of three opposition leaders reported today under house arrest by the military-backed Greek government.

Kanelopoulos, who encouraged a student protest that sparked last weekend's abortive anti-government rebellion, said by telephone two police officers arrived at his apartment Tuesday night and ordered him not to leave.

He said George Mavros, minister for coordination under the late Premier George Papandreu was under house arrest. Opposition supporters said former Minister of Industry Ioannis Zigidis also was under house arrest.

The move against Kanel-opoulos came a few hours after the government attacked the former premier as "an incorrigible yeaner for a sinful past."

The regime pushed ahead Tuesday with its roundup of suspects accused of taking part in the three-day uprising, which claimed 11 lives and led to the reimposition of martial law.

Kanelopoulos sent a message of encouragement to students occupying the Athens Polytechnic school—the center of the fighting — Friday night just before the street clashes broke out.

In a statement Monday, Kanelopoulos called for the immediate creation of a government of national unity and said "the country's peace cannot be based on the blood of its citizens."

Several hours before the reported house arrest, government spokesman Spyros Zournatzis accused the former premier of attempting to be "the leader of anarchists."

70 Reds Are Killed By S. Viets

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese infantrymen killed 70 Communist troops in stepped up fighting for the Mekong Delta's fall rice crop, the Saigon military command reported today.

In Cambodia, field reporters said rebel troops captured a hilltop overlooking Highway 4 to the sea to strengthen insurgent control of one of Phnom Penh's vital supply roads.

The Saigon military command said government forces killed 65 Communists Tuesday near Cai Lay, 50 miles southwest of Saigon. No infantry casualties were reported.

Spokesmen said 83 mortar shells fired into nearby government positions killed one soldier and wounded 15.

A military search party found the wings and tail of an Air Vietnam DC3 airliner missing since Saturday with 23 persons, including an American, aboard, a command spokesman said today.

The government and Air Vietnam identified the American as Richard W. Thompson, a representative of the Philadelphia-based American Friends Service Committee.

In other harvest-season fighting in the Mekong Delta, the command said five Communists were slain Tuesday near Bac Lieu, 118 miles southwest of Saigon. Again, there were no reported government casualties.

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 11 Communists Tuesday in the latest clashes of a two-week battle for control of the southern Central Highlands.

The Saigon command said two government soldiers were killed and 11 wounded in the fighting to recapture three outposts—Bu Prang, Bu Bong and Dak Song—which fell to the Communists at the start of the fighting.

Military sources said South Vietnamese columns had advanced on three sides to within half a mile of Dak Song, but the Communists were attempting to cut government supply lines.

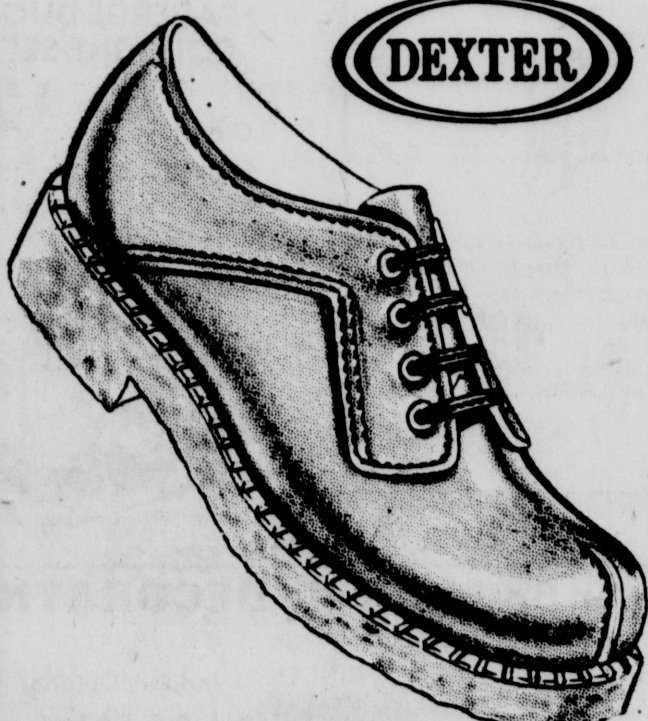

Western diplomatic sources in Phnom Penh said the fighting along Cambodia's Highway 4 might indicate preparations for a new Communist offensive.

Field reports said the Communist-led Khmer Rouge insurgent captured the government hilltop outpost at Sambour, seizing an arms and ammunition store left by the fleeing defenders.

Highway 4, which links Phnom Penh to the nation's only seaport at Kompong Som, was cut by the rebels Nov. 11 near Sambour, but the capture of the hilltop gives the insurgents control of a larger strip of the road.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was higher today after two consecutive sessions of heavy losses.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction near the opening with advances broadly leading losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers attributed the opening rally to a continuation of Tuesday's late-session profit-taking and a spreading conviction that the market is now tremendously "oversold." However the Commerce Department reported this morning that the consumer price index rose .8 per cent in October, or at a 9.6 per cent annual rate.

Western Pacific Industries led Big Board trading, unchanged at 8, followed by American Telephone, up 1/4 at 46 1/4 and Gulf Oil, unchanged at 21 1/4. Natamco spurted 2 1/4 to 57 1/4 and First National City jumped 3/4 higher to 47 1/4.

Social Security Increase Step Closer to Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — An 11 per cent cost-of-living increase for 30 million Social Security recipients has moved a step closer to congressional passage with Senate Finance Committee approval of the measure.

The Senate is expected to pass the bill within two weeks. Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said there is no doubt the legislation will be sent to President Nixon before the 1973 session ends.

The bill also would boost Social Security taxes to finance the increase. The wage base, the maximum amount of annual earnings subject to the payroll levy, would go up to $13,200 in 1974 compared to the $10,800 ceiling for 1973.

Tax rate of 5.85 per cent paid each by the worker and employer, would not be changed in 1974.

The committee bill would put the increased benefits into effect in two steps — 7 per cent on enactment and 4 per cent additional next June.

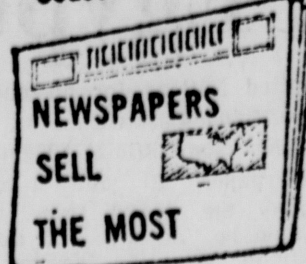

The House version, passed last week, would have the same two steps but the 7 per cent hike would not take effect until next March.

The legislation is being pushed through Congress to try to shore up the purchasing power of retired persons and other Social Security beneficiaries in the light of rapidly rising prices in the last year.

If the full 11 per cent boost is enacted, the average payment for a retired individual will go up from $167 a month to $186 next year. For a couple the increase will be from $277 to $310.

Mason Co-Sponsors New Capital Punishment Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Legislation similar to a capital punishment bill signed into law in California several months ago has been dumped into the legislative hopper in New York State.

The measure, which would mandate the death penalty for several specific crimes involving murder, would replace New York's restrictive death penalty law which was struck down by state and federal courts this year. The bill was pre-filed for the 1974 session Tuesday. The sponsors, Sen. Edwin E. Mason, R-Hobart, and Assemblyman Gerald B. Solomon, R-Glens Falls, say their bill goes beyond a measure they had previously pre-filed. The earlier plan would have mandated the death sentence in the slaying of a law enforcement officer. "The main objection of the U.S. Supreme Court in striking down previous capital punishment laws was that they were discriminatory and did not specify the particular type of murder," Solomon said. "Our bill is designed to satisfy this objection." After the state's Court of Appeals struck down New York's limited capital punishment statute in June, Governor Rockefeller said he would ask the legislature to approve a new death penalty law. Last week, the U.S. Supreme Court let stand the Court of Appeals ruling, voiding a law which permitted capital punishment only in cases involving the death of a peace officer.

"The curtailment of capital punishment statutes in New York State as well as throughout the United States has so profoundly affected our justice system that the general safety of law-abiding citizens, including our women and children, is seriously jeopardized," Solomon said.

"The reinstatement of a capital punishment statute with mandatory death penalties will undoubtedly result in saving many, many lives, the number of which can be argued," he said.

—Murder of a police officer, peace officer or prison guard. —Murder of a witness to a crime killed to prevent his or her testimony. —Murder committed in the commission of another crime. —Murder for the crime of kidnapping for ransom or extortion.

—Murder in connection with a rape by force or in connection with lewd or lascivious acts upon a child under age 14. —Murder caused by deliberately dousing a human being with a flammable substance.

Since the Supreme Court's 1972 ruling that capital punishment, as it was then imposed, was the kind of "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden in the constitution, 19 states have revived the death penalty for particular crimes. New York's law was revised in 1965 to limit the number of capital offenses to two: Murder of a peace officer in performance of his official duties, and murder by a lifer in a state prison. A later amendment added the murder of a jail employee in the course of his duties.

Finch Attempting to Regain License

R. B. FINCH (UPI TELEPHOTO)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Former Dr. R. B. Bernard Finch, who served 12 years in a California prison for the murder of his wife, will take a test next month in an attempt to regain his medical license.

Even if he passes, however, there's a chance Finch's license will not be issued. Cole County Circuit Court Judge Byron Kinder said Tuesday he could find nothing to indicate Finch's moral character was bad and upheld an earlier ruling that said Finch must be administered the test. Kinder's order will be appealed to the Court of Appeals.

Finch served 12 years of the sentence and was released in 1971. He moved to El Dorado Springs, Mo., a community of 3,100 persons 125 miles south of Kansas City. He worked as an X-ray technician in a local hospital and last May applied for reinstatement of his medical license.

But Williams indicated if Finch passed his license would not be granted until the appeals court decides the issue. Finch, 53, was convicted of the 1959 murder of his wife, Barbara Jean, and sentenced to life in prison. His receptionist, Carole Tregoff, also was convicted in connection with the headline grabbing crime.

The Missouri Board of Registration for the Healing Arts refused to permit Finch to take the test on the grounds he had been convicted of a felony and was unsuited to practice medicine. But on Sept. 9, the state administrative hearing commissioner overturned the board's ruling.

Sayonara, Honorable Nessie

LOCH NESS, Scotland (UPI) — Yoshio Kou took a farewell stroll along the misty banks of many local residents think Loch Ness and gazed wistfully over the lake's green waters.

Kou, head of an 11-member Japanese expedition looking for the fabled Loch Ness monster, called off the search Tuesday with just "queer sounds" and "strange bones" to show for his efforts.

The Japanese team gathered up its array of expensive electronic equipment and left for a brief visit to London before returning home. The leader, however, said the Japanese would come back next spring to try again.

"We regret very much that we were unable to obtain any recorded evidence that the monster exists," Kou said before leaving.

He said two of the team's divers reported hearing "queer sounds" while probing the lake's murky depths one day. On another occasion, he said, they sighted two "strange bones."

"They said the bones were about the size of a chair and appeared to be resting on some object below them but the bones were too deep for the divers to reach," Kou said. He said the expedition spent about half its $500,000 budget since arriving in the Scottish Highlands Sept. 7 to begin the search for "Nessie," the hump-back monster some places. Some local residents expressed fears the Japanese would capture the region's biggest tourist attraction, clap it into an oversize tank or cage and take it home. But Kou said, "We would have thrown it back."

The team abandoned plans to bring in a midget submarine from Japan when it was realized the craft could not dive to the lower reaches of the lake, believed by some scientists.

IBM Files New Appeal On Telex Damage Ruling

DENVER (AP) — International Business Machines Corp. filed an appeal Tuesday of the $259.5 million damages a federal judge ordered the company to pay Telex Corp. for alleged monopolistic practices.

"The court's huge unprecedented damage award is concededly not supportable by the record," IBM charged in its appeal filed with the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen ruled in a case in Tulsa, Okla., that IBM had to pay its competitor, $352.5 million, but later reduced the sum saying he had made a "substantial error" in computing the amount to be paid.

IBM also asked the appeals court to consolidate its appeal of the monopolistic practices case and Christensen's ruling of a $21.9 million judgment against Telex to IBM for industrial espionage.

IBM in its lengthy brief, said the two rulings "creates substantial grounds for difference of opinion."

Both IBM and Telex said they would appeal the Christensen ruling.

IBM also appealed an injunction against IBM for three years from collecting any service termination charges from long-term lease agreements for peripheral products from its customers. "The district court's injunctions are similarly unsupported," as the damage ruling, IBM said in the appeal.

Christensen, of Salt Lake City who was assigned to hear the case in Tulsa, also ruled that Telex gained illegal advantage from its hiring of IBM employees and ordered the company to return any IBM confidential documents it possessed and not to hire any additional IBM employees for a two-year period without court approval.

In its appeal, IBM said the underlying issue presented in the case was that "legitimate

Girl Under Security In Deaths of Teenagers

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (UPI) — Authorities have kept a teenage girl under tight security since the shotgun shooting deaths of four Sioux Falls teenagers because she very well may be able to identify their assailants.

Lyon County, Iowa, Sheriff Craig Vinson has withheld all comment on the juvenile being kept in "protective custody," but it was learned Tuesday night that she was allegedly raped by one of the murder suspects.

That incident apparently happened several hours after the shooting last weekend at the Gitchie Manitou State Park in Iowa, along the South Dakota state line.

The girl, estimated to be 17, reportedly attacked by one Baade, 18, and his brother, Dana, 14, were scheduled for three suspects returned her to this afternoon in Sioux Falls, her home. The girl was with the four boys who were killed.

Vinson, who has worked as in their 30s. One was said to nearly around the clock since have a silver cap on his tooth.

the bodies were discovered in the desolate park Sunday by a passerby, said "some evidence" was found by laboratory technicians who combed the van used by the victims to travel to the park for what authorities said was a weekend party-campout.

He said more information would be released today.

The van was recovered in a Sioux Falls parking lot Monday. Vinson said the evidence was sent to the Iowa crime laboratory in Des Moines for processing, adding he hoped it would lead to an identification of the three suspects.

Private funeral services for the victims, Roger Essen, 17, Michael Hadrath, 15, Stewart Baade, 18, and his brother, Dana, 14, were scheduled for this afternoon in Sioux Falls, where all were students. The suspects were described as in their 30s. One was said to have a silver cap on his tooth.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 21, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — While the Postal Service forecasts a Merry Christmas for mailers, insiders say postal authorities are planning to use the energy crisis to explain away Yuletide mail slowdowns that are really the result of ordinary inefficiency.

Among middle-echelon officials, there is talk not only of slower mail, but of a post-Christmas limit of three home deliveries a week. Such proposals would have been heresy only a few years ago. Already, an internal "Situation Paper" has been distributed to middle-level postal executives for use in dealing with employees and the public when complaints of slow service begin.

"Although no one is sure of the extent, the energy crisis could seriously impair our ability to transport mail," says the document. "Of 14,000 airline flights, approximately 300 have been lost to us because of cutbacks connected to the fuel shortage."

"PEANUTS"
Our postal informants say the 300 flights are "peanuts" in the overall picture and should not delay the mails.

However, the memo goes on. "Because the extent of the fuel shortage and our ability to find alternate forms of energy are still not known, postal officials will continue to watch the situation closely."

But once these fears are expressed, the "Situation Paper" points out that the Federal Office of Oil and Gas has so far solved problems of "individual shortages for both highway and air taxi contractors," and dealt efficiently with other postal demands.

Actually, some top level officials loyal to impulsive Postmaster General E. T. "Ted" Klassen have heaved a little sigh of relief over the energy crisis. In October, Klassen promised this Christmas would see one of the best mail deliveries in history.

Since then, Klassen has been criticized for throwing fat contracts to his cronies, morale has dropped and postal deficits continue.

RATE HIKES

There is talk of first class rates of 20 cents or more by 1984 and inefficiencies persist.

Our informants insist that Klassen's noble aim of having all mail "current" by December 24 was impossible to achieve even before the energy crunch came.

Publicly, the Postal Service insists Klassen can still realize his aim if mailers comply with his recent bid for earlier Yule mailings. For the record, the service denies vehemently the energy crisis is being used to cover up other postal problems or that a three-times-a-week home delivery schedule is in the offing.

TERRORIST TURN-ABOUT: The United States is trying to deport an ex-guerrilla leader to Syria where he faces possible torture and death on charges he embezzled $140,000 from Arab terrorists.

Ironically, if the United States sends him home, he can be forced to sign over at least $120,000 to the terrorists for use against Israeli civilians and other targets.

The strange troubles of the ex-terrorist, Mamdouh Barbour, began when he was a Syrian army major. According to his account, he refused to cooperate with a Soviet advisor and, as punishment, was assigned to the dread Saika terrorist group.

Classified State Department documents pick up the story, saying Barbour, now 43, was "the number three man in Saika" which was "established in the wake of the June 1967 War (for) anti-Israeli commando and terrorist activities."

'SYRIAN CREATION'
"It is estimated that Saika is responsible for eight per cent of all commando operations since 1967. Although ostensibly a Palestine organization, it is, for all intents and purposes, a creation of the Syrian government."

As a Saika leader, Barbour was trusted with the funds needed for guns, payment of guerrillas and supplies.

Syria claims he heisted $400,000 while he was transferring the money from one account to another. Barbour claims the total was $140,000 at most, and the money was his inheritance and savings.

Everyone agrees Barbour left Syria in haste and used a forged passport from the little Arab land of Oman to go to Canada, where he stashed $120,000 in banks, then entered the United States illegally and made his way to friends in Texas.

IN TEXAS JAIL.
There, Barbour was arrested by the United States at the request of a Syrian Interpol official, Mumtaz al Feteih, even though the United States has no diplomatic relations with Syria. For the last 18 months, he has been in a Texas jail while the United States wrangles over what to do with him.

If the United States sends him back to Syria as an illegal U.S. entrant, there is every likelihood he will be forced to release the $120,000 to Saika for its terrorist activities.

On the other hand, if the United States grants Barbour asylum, it will be just one more slap on the sensitive cheeks of the Arab world which now controls the oil needed so desperately by the United States.

FOOTNOTE: Barbour's lawyer, Jack Wasserman, has demanded from Syria the names of Saika's leaders so they can be questioned about the $400,000. Syria has refused so far, fearing perhaps if the names were made public, the Saika leaders would be sitting ducks for Israeli assassins.

Inside Report

Richardson's Firing

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's shocking accusation to two groups of Republican Senators that his former Attorney General, Elliot Richardson, lied about the firing of Archibald Cox as special prosecutor goes to the heart of White House confusion which caused the Saturday night massacre and shook the Nixon presidency.

All key officials in the special prosecutor's office and at the Justice Department support Richardson's sworn testimony that he never agreed to prohibit Cox from issuing further subpoenas for presidential papers. Mr. Nixon had no personal dialogue about it with Richardson. So, the President's accusation is based on a single source: the version by Alexander Haig, White House chief of staff, of his conversations with Richardson — a version lacking other first-person support.

Consequently, Mr. Nixon's assault on Richardson, besides reiterating the President's inclination to counter-attack sharply when cornered, reveals the fragility of decision-making at the White House. Considering Haig's well-established integrity, the most charitable explanation of what happened is inexcusable confusion in the upper reaches of the White House.

There is no dispute that Richardson accepted the White House compromise calling for Sen. John Stennis to oversee editing of subpoenaed tape recordings and tried, unsuccessfully, to sell the plan to Cox. The dispute concerns Richardson's reaction to Cox's rejection. All evidence indicates Richardson opposed either firing Cox or prohibiting his quest for new documents after Cox rejected the Stennis compromise.

Indeed, Richardson's position was clear enough on Monday, Oct. 15, beginning the fateful week so costly to the Nixon presidency. White House lawyers mentioned to Richardson the view of Yale's Prof. Alexander Bickel, that Mr. Nixon could circumvent an adverse Supreme Court decision on the tapes by firing Cox and naming a more congenial special prosecutor. Richardson made clear he would have no part of this, and the Bickel option was dropped.

But by Thursday evening after having failed to convince Cox to accept the Stennis compromise, Richardson feared the White House was about to fire Cox anyway. So, on Friday morning, he told Haig he wanted to see the President immediately. If he could not convince Mr. Nixon, Richardson was prepared to resign. Richardson was then informed Cox was not going to be fired but was denied a meeting with the President.

The critically important prohibition against Cox came up later that day. At the Justice Department, there was no doubt that Richardson opposed any such prohibition. Haig insists that Richardson actually proposed the prohibition, though this is utterly inconsistent with his past positions.

Haig, apparently, sincerely believed Richardson was in step with the White House, which would have hopelessly isolated Cox. That was what Haig informed presidential counselors Melvin R. Laird and Bryce Harlow Friday, Oct. 19, when they were belatedly informed of the Stennis compromise. Had they known Richardson opposed the key prohibition provision, these two political veterans might well have advised caution.

After Richardson refused to fire Cox on Saturday, Oct. 20, Haig told Deputy Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus that Richardson had approved the entire Stennis compromise. Ruckelshaus retorted that simply was not true and also refused to fire Cox. Thus, Haig's understanding of Richardson's position was challenged during the height of the Saturday night massacre.

Since then, White House aides have attempted to blame the ensuing crisis on Richardson, charging that he misled the President and then misrepresented his own position publicly. That Mr. Nixon himself should pick up this theme a month later is explicable only in the context of counterattack dominating his sessions with Republican Congressmen last week.

The first presidential attack against Richardson came during Tuesday night's session with Republican Senators when Mr. Nixon asserted that the former Attorney General had agreed to the Stennis compromise in full. Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts then informed the President that Richardson had told him he did not agree to the prohibition against Cox. "He didn't tell you the truth," Mr. Nixon shot back. Senators present were stunned, with Brooke whispering, "This is incredible."

That exchange did not leak out. But in meeting the second group of Republican Senators Wednesday night, Mr. Nixon made it clear his accusation the previous evening was no accident. Asked about Cox's firing on the very last question, the President attacked Richardson again: "He did not tell the truth." Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland noted Richardson testified under oath, but Mr. Nixon snapped back: "Nobody's going to go after him for perjury."

Mathias, outraged by the attack on Richardson's integrity, wants the Senate Judiciary Committee to find where the truth lies. That inevitably would trigger an inquest into the Saturday night massacre and a further split among Republicans, unneeded by Mr. Nixon now. But such self-inflicted wounds have inevitably resulted from the counterattack strategy, doggedly followed by Mr. Nixon in confronting Watergate.

That Long November Day in Dallas

(FIRST OF 3 ARTICLES)

The sun was high and hot for November. In downtown Dallas, the crowds were heavy. Father Oscar Huber, a short priest who had never seen a live President, waved from the fourth row of spectators. He thought that President John F. Kennedy waved back. Soon, confetti spun in colorful waterfalls from the skyscrapers.

Twice Mrs. Kennedy reached into her purse and donned sunglasses. Twice, without losing the politician's smile or the friendly wave, The President murmured: "Jackie, take the glasses off." At Main and Field Streets, James Hosty of the FBI watched the motorcade pass. He had worked a fruitless assignment: tracking down a defector named Lee Harvey Oswald.

Oswald, skinny, pouting and suspicious, had fled to Russia after serving as a U.S. Marine. Oswald hoped to reveal U.S. radar secrets to the Soviets. Moscow was uninterested. His visitor's visa had been revoked; he attempted suicide; he went to a psychiatric hospital. Later, he was permitted to work in a cheap factory in Minsk.

He seethed at the world. He despised the U.S.; now he hated Russia. Oswald married a girl named Marina and demanded that the U.S. State Department lend him money to bring a wife and baby back to Texas. It was given. Special Agent Hosty found Lee Harvey Oswald, to be neat, silent, secretive. The FBI had "plants" in the Dallas Communist party, and Oswald spurned the local "Reds" as deviationists. He proclaimed himself to be a pure Marxist. Socialists and Communists had a word for him: Obnoxious.

He was a package clerk in the Texas School Book Depository. Oswald wore his hatred like body sores. Life was unbearable. He forbade his wife to learn English. The one thing he was willing to trade his life for was immortality. He tried to kill Major General Edwin Walker, and missed. He plotted to shoot Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Marina learned about it and locked Oswald in a bathroom.

At 12:29 p.m., he sat on the floor of the sixth floor of the Depository building. The window sill was low. He was surrounded by a wall of cardboard boxes. He aimed a $24 rifle over the sill between the big V of a tree below. He heard the bowling alley roar of the crowd. He saw the motorcycles and Chief Jesse Curry's car.

The motorcade wound to the right around Dealey Plaza. On the green, cameras were poised. A young husband pointed up. "See how well they guard the President?" he said. His wife saw the barrel of the rifle. Others saw it.

The big Lincoln, the fenders and windshield sun-spangled, swung into Dealey Plaza. The Kennedys waved. On the jump seats, Governor and Mrs. John Connally looked surprised and pleased at the welcome. The First Lady of Texas flashed a smile: "Mr. Kennedy, you can't say that Dallas doesn't love you."

At 11 miles per hour, the car glided across Houston Street, made a wide left turn onto Elm. The Kennedy car passed through the big V of the tree. Pigeons on the roof, pecking on corn, took frightened flight. They felt the shock wave before anyone heard the crack of a rifle. It hit the pavement, bounced slightly upward, and peppered a man on the far side of the plaza with flecks of blood.

The sound caromed off the walls of buildings and the railroad overpass ahead. It seemed to come from everywhere. There was a silence. Then a second crack. Mrs. Kennedy clutched red roses on her lap. A bullet went through the back of the President's neck, spreading the strap muscles, and tumbled through the back of Governor Connally's chest.

Mr. Kennedy, in slow motion, reached for the hole in his throat.

The big car passed the tree. Mr. Oswald fired a third shot. The President's head exploded. Five and a quarter inches of skull floated behind the car. Mrs. Kennedy tried to climb back. A running Secret Service agent pushed her back into the seat.

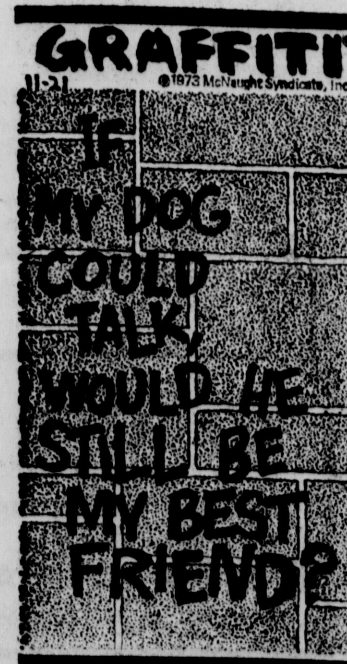

Slowly, Mr. Kennedy fell toward his wife. Like a tired child, his head reposed in her lap on the roses. "They have shot his head off!" Mrs. Kennedy shouted. No one responded. The car gathered speed for the underpass and Stemmons Freeway. The President was dead, even though the heart automatically pumped blood through the opening in the skull.

The Hertz clock on the roof said 12:30, Nov. 22, 1963. It was the end of everybody's youth...

Onteora Board Approves 'Project Read'

WEST HURLEY

Superintendent of Schools Dr.

Frank Marlow.

The Ontario Board of Education approved Project

Read, a "comprehensive attack on reading problems" in the Onteora Schools, at its meeting

Monday night, according to those reading at less than 85 percent of their capacity will be given remedial instruction.

The program will also contain in-service training for teachers and workshops for parents.

The cost of the program is about $36,000, Marlow said, which will be paid for through budget transfers from staff

salaries and equipment purchase.

Dr. John J. Keough was appointed, assistant to the superintendent for business affairs. Receiving a three-year appointment, Keough has replaced Charles Knipple, who previously resigned.

The board approved a $1,000 expenditure for the institution of an Artists in the School program, in conjunction with the Woodstock Artists

Association. The district will also get matching funds from the state, and Marlow said the district was getting $3,000 worth of services for its $1,000 expenditure.

A special report on the full range of services available to elementary students was delivered by members of the West Hurley faculty.

A public hearing was held before the meeting on raising the senior citizens' tax exemption from $5,000 to the legal limit of $6,000. An additional public hearing will be held at the next board meeting, Dec.

be taken at that time.

Vesco Is Granted Visa To Live in Argentina

NASSAU, The Bahamas

UPI — Fugitive financier

Robert L. Vesco admitted

Tuesday he has been granted a visa to live in Argentina, but he said it was not because he wants to escape extradition to the United States.

A spokesman for Vesco

issued a late-night statement

commenting on published reports the Argentine government had granted the financier permission to live in the country under a grant of immunity from extradition.

The spokesman said the reports that Vesco had received a residence permit in Argentina were based on "incomplete

information supplied by agents of the U.S. government."

The statement acknowledged that Vesco had obtained a permit to live in Argentina early this year. It said the visa was necessary for him to conduct business there.

"Mr. Vesco never sought to evade or elude the extradition efforts," it said.

The U.S. government is seeking extradition of the New Jersey financier on a warrant charging him with embezzling

$50,000 from the International

Controls Corp., which formed a part of his financial empire.

Vesco, 36, is now in the Bahamas, free on $75,000 bail

during extradition hearings before a Nassau magistrate.

Vesco has also been indicted in New York along with former

Attorney General John N.

Mitchell and former Commerce

Secretary Maurice Stans on charges of conspiracy and obstruction of justice in connection with a $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign. The campaign charges are not part of the extradition effort.

Agustin Montes de Oca, one

18 ways to fight the oil heat shortage this winter.

It's no secret that heating oil is in short supply.

Just how serious this shortage becomes depends on the kind of winter we get.

Mandatory allocations imposed November 1, 1973, by the Federal Government, define how the available supply of heating oil will be distributed. Meanwhile, here's a list of pointers to help you get the most out of your share of the supply, in order to keep you as comfortable as possible.

Given any kind of reasonable winter, this will get us through.

1. Seal off any unused chimneys by closing the damper.

2. Seal off all basement windows and the attic door with tape.

3. If you have a kitchen vent keep it closed when not in use.

4. Check the caulking around windows and doors and repair if necessary.

5. If you have an attached garage, keep the garage doors closed. (The colder the garage is, the more heat is lost through the house wall.)

6. Use storm doors and windows, and make sure they fit tightly.

7. If you don't have storm windows, cover the outside glass with polyethylene sheets. They don't look elegant, but they keep you warm.

8. Check the insulation in the attic. Replace any torn or loose pieces and add more rock wool wherever it has settled very much.

9. Keep your drapes and curtains closed at night and on extremely cold days.

10. Keep doors to closets closed. No sense using fuel to heat the air inside a closet.

11. If you have zone control, reduce the heat to unused rooms and seal them off from the rest of the house.

12. If your house has baseboard outlets, make sure that rugs aren't blocking the air circulation.

13. At night, turn the thermostat down to 65°. And during the day, adjust the thermostat to the lowest comfortable setting.

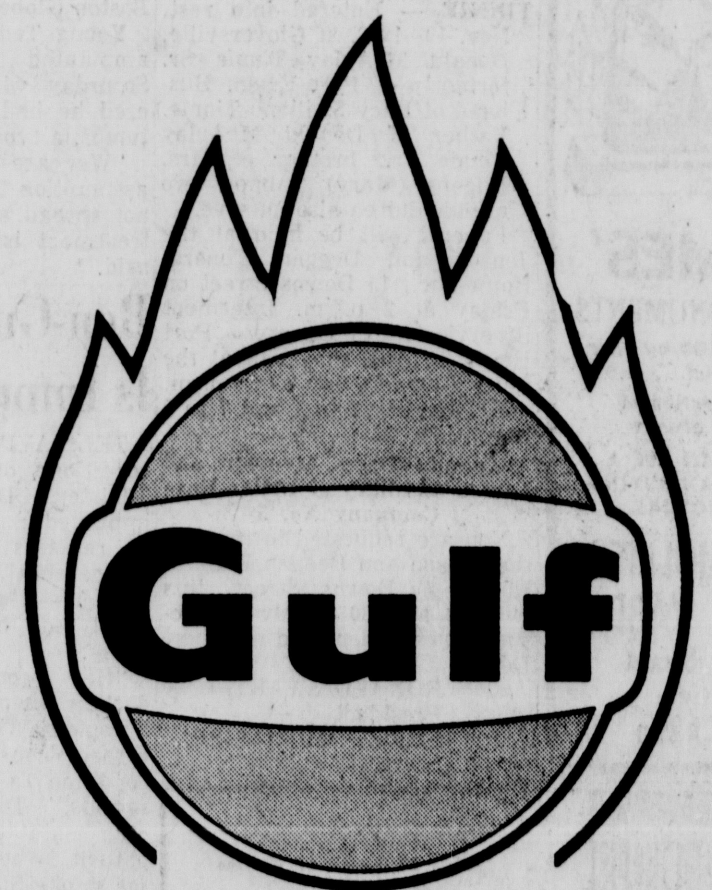

14. In warm air systems, replace air filters at least once a year.

15. Bleed air out of hot water radiators at least once a year.

16. Check your oil tank for leaks. If the tank is inaccessible, and it's more than 15 years old, have it pressure-tested.

17. Have your furnace checked, cleaned, and adjusted once a year.

18. If your burner is more than 15 years old, consider replacing it with a new Gulf Econojet Oil Burner. A new Econojet can make more heat than an old burner can with the same amount of fuel.

Ellenville Hospital Dinner Is Attended By More Than 600

SPRING GLEN
Over 600 people attended the Ellenville Community Hospital Dinner Dance Sunday night, according to Arthur C. Chipp and Leo Rosick, co-chairmen of the event.

The fund-raising party, held at the Homowack Lodge, was the eighth annual $100 a couple dinner dance sponsored by the hospital's Board of Directors to provide sustaining funds for the community health care institution.

In addition to proceeds acquired by the hospital from dinner donors and contributions to the dinner fund from many who could not attend, it was announced that the hospital would benefit from a gift of $25,000 made by the Resnick family. The event was also the occasion for the presentation of a check for $12,000 by Mrs. John Verdino, from the Ellenville Community Hospital Auxiliary of which she is president.

The co-chairmen noted that there was annually an increasing attendance from Ellenville and its environs, and commended the participation in the fund-raising dinner by local industries.

Son's a Wrong Number ...Mother Tells Him So!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son has built a bedroom in our garage. He asked me if he could install an extension phone out there as a friend of his had done. I told him I thought it was illegal and he should not do it.

I returned from a brief trip to find that he installed a phone in his room. (He bought the instrument from a radio shack store.)

Also, he has two road signs mounted on his wall. He said one was given to him by a friend, and the other he picked out of a gutter after having seen it there for a year. (I believe him.)

I think the phone should be removed from our son's room unless he is willing to have it installed by the phone company and pay monthly charges. I also believe the road signs should be taken down, since they were county property. What do you think?

A MOTHER: The same principal is involved in both instances. By-passing the phone company is taking a free ride on their monthly service, even tho the instrument was purchased elsewhere. Keeping road signs that belong to the county is also dishonest. I'm with you, mother.

DEAR READERS: If you are not accustomed to saying grace before each meal, but would like to offer a thanksgiving prayer at your table on this Thanksgiving Day, mine is yours for the reading. And here it is:

O, heavenly Father,
We thank Thee for the food
And remember the hungry.
We thank Thee for health
And remember the sick.
We thank Thee for friends
And remember the friendless.

We thank Thee for freedom
And remember the enslaved.
May these remembrances
stir us to service.

That Thy gifts to us may be used for others.

Amen
(Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, Love, Abby)

DEAR ABBY: I work in a hospital, and I wish you would please devote a little space in your column to the way people should conduct themselves when visiting a patient in the hospital. Recently a patient was admitted with a serious heart condition.

The patient's sister entered, hysterical and in tears. She threw herself upon the patient (who was wired and bottled on both sides) and screamed: "Thank God you're alive. I thought you'd be dead by the time I got back!"

Then the patient's husband said to his ailing wife: "When I told So and So you were rushed to the hospital with a heart attack, she said: 'She'll never make it!'"

This kind of talk at the bedside of a patient is uncalled for, and detrimental to the welfare of the patient. Please ask people to think before they speak, even tho they are emotionally upset.

N. Y. POST READER: Your letter may serve a useful purpose, but common sense is such an uncommon commodity, some fools will continue to babble, regardless.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SAME FIGHT THIS YEAR IN ATLANTIC, IA.": Settle it by going to your mother's for Thanksgiving, and to his mother's for Christmas.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Tiny Tips

Layering for Men

Women don't have an exclusive on the layered look. Ribbed sweaters for men, perhaps a well-fitted turtleneck, under a looser cardigan or pullover, make a good-looking cold-weather outfit.

Sexy Evenings

Dazzling evening sandals for this year's season of parties, theaters, and dinners are here now. Black satin, shiny platinum, silver or bronze leather are just some of your choices to brighten and highlight your best gown.

Newest Accent

Sequins strung together on heavy weight or doubled thread make an attractive and different necklace, bracelet or belt. Try an inch or two of one color followed by a narrow band of another color and so on, varying the colors for the effect you wish.

Feet on the Ground

Three- and four-inch platform shoes have seen their day. Look for one-half inch to one-inch maximum thickness soles on the most stylish new shoes.

Beta Sigma Phi Lists Four New Members

On Tuesday, Nov. 20, Gamma Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its annual Ritual of Jewels dinner at Wildwycke House. Four new members accepted the degree. They are: Mrs. Carol Eymann, Mrs. Jo Ann Fury, Mrs. Elsie Kemble and Mrs. Donna Lawrence.

To qualify for the Ritual of Jewels Degree, a pledge completes the study of Invitation of Life, passes the test for the Ritual of Jewels Degree as outlined in the Pledge Manual and fulfills her financial obligation to the International office in Kansas City, Missouri. The test includes general information on Beta Sigma Phi and performance of membership obligations.

The object of this Beta Sigma Phi is to unite in fellowship and friendship those women accepted for membership and to promote the cultural development of each member by a definite course of studies.

Each new member received her Ritual of Jewels Degree badges at the recent meeting.

National League MVP Award to Pete Rose

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Little Pete was just as excited as Big Pete.

When the call came to Pete Rose Tuesday night that he had been named the National League's Most Valuable Player, his 4-year-old son, Pete Jr., was all ears.

"Me and Daddy won the MVP," he announced to anyone within shouting distance of his suburban Western Hills home.

"Yeah, Little Pete is already taking credit for it," said the Cincinnati Reds outfielder.

Little Pete already says he wants to be just like his dad.

He goes to home games dressed in a miniature Reds uniform and strikes batting poses at the ball park just like his father. He even cusses like his dad.

"A couple of months ago, he was ready to do stage shows," Rose said of his son. "Now, I've got him to clean up his act a little and he's ready for the banquet circuit."

Rose relaxed with Little Pete, his 8-year-old daughter, Fawn, and his wife Carolyn at home Tuesday night after learning he had been named the top player in the National League.

"It's the greatest individual honor I've ever received," Rose said. "It's really great because it was a letdown not to win the playoffs and get into the World Series. This picks me up and helps me through the winter. I can't wait to get started playing baseball again next spring."

"I was jumping up and down when I found out about it," continued Rose. "I'm the happiest guy in the world."

Pete said 1973 was the best year of his 11-season major league career.

"I think I really grew up this year. I know that sounds funny after 11 years in baseball but I grew up. I call myself a grown-up who plays like a kid," he said.

"I try not to be a selfish player. I was captain and I tried to make my team better. I learned you can't be a team leader by hanging around the same guys all the time. So I tried to be good friends with everybody on the team. We didn't have any cliques on the team."

Rose, a graduate of local Western Hills High School and signed to a pro contract after the Cincinnati sandlots, is called "Charlie Hustle" by his teammates.

On the field, he literally throws himself after anything hit his way and on the basepaths he tries to turn singles into doubles.

"I have to hustle more than other players," Rose said. "I feel I have just a little better than average ability, so I have to work harder. But I don't think anybody has better spirit than I do."

Rose, 32, who was runner-up to St. Louis pitcher Bob Gibson for the MVP award in 1968, said he thought he had a crack at it this year.

"I was hoping I would get it but I was afraid that I would keep thinking about it and then be in for a big letdown. I knew (Willie) Stargell and (Bobby) Bonds had great years so I just tried to keep it out of my mind the past two or three weeks."

"With this honor, I think I've had just about every baseball honor there is," he said, "but I still have one goal—to play on a world championship team."

"We didn't deserve the World Series this year—didn't even deserve to win the playoffs," Pete continued. "The Mets outpitched us, outhit us, outplayed us. They deserved to win the playoffs because they proved themselves the better team."

Rose had an infamous run-in with the Mets' Bud Harrelson during the playoffs which led Shes Stadium fans to slinging debris at him. Pete now makes light of the Harrelson incident.

"I think TV commercial people were glad to see it," he joked. "If it hadn't been for that episode, people would have probably turned their TV sets off."

Rose predicts the Reds will be better next season than this year.

"But I won't make any predictions about a world championship," he said.

Meminger Holds Gail to Six Points

Deano Bugged Goodrich

NEW YORK (AP) — It wouldn't have surprised Gail Goodrich if Dean Meminger followed him right into the Laker locker room.

Wherever Goodrich went Tuesday night, the pesky Knick guard was sure to follow. The result was that Goodrich, who entered the game as the league's third leading scorer with an average of 26.6, went scoreless in the first half, missing all eight shots, and finished with six points.

"With a little bug like me on you it can be tough," said Meminger with a twinkle in his eye after helping the Knicks to a 105-89 National Basketball Association victory over the Lakers. "Especially when I know they're going to Gail 50 percent of the time."

Meminger isn't privy to any special information. It's public knowledge that the Lakers sorely miss All Pro guard Jerry West, out with a stomach injury. And it's no secret that Goodrich is expected to pick up the offensive slack.

"Jerry being out puts a lot of pressure on Gail," Meminger said. "But it was just one of those nights when Gail couldn't hit a basket."

Meminger didn't make it any easier on Goodrich, however.

"I forced him to take a lot of bad shots," Meminger said. "You can't let up on him, though. Gail has a tendency to take off."

"Meminger really overplayed me," Goodrich said. "He played very well. I just never got the ball in good position."

The Knicks didn't seem to have any trouble getting into position for their shots, especially in the third quarter when they went on 16-8 and 10-0 tears to build a commanding 79-62 lead at the end of the period.

"New York's got a great outside shooting club," said Laker Coach Bill Sharman, who has had to "reconstruct" Los Angeles after Wilt Chamberlain jumped to the American Basketball Association and Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson were traded away. "If we don't play outstanding defense and don't switch quick enough, they're gonna kill you."

Bill Bradley, who led all scorers with a season-high 29 points, Willis Reed and Walt Frazier were the perpetrators in the third period Knick spree as they combined for 25 points, mostly on deadly outside shooting.

Reed, playing in only his second game since missing seven games due to a knee injury, scored a season-high 25 points. "I was afraid the layoff would really hurt me. I feel pretty good after missing two weeks," said a low-key Reed. Frazier, who scored 20 points, Golden State squeeze by Milwaukee 108-105.

"This is a reconstruction period for us," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman after the Lakers were whipped by the Knicks 105-89.

In the rest of the NBA, Buffalo trounced Phoenix 127-100 in, doesn't know what's going on in the NBA," said Chicago Coach Dick Motta after his Bulls outlasted the Trail Blazers Tuesday night 106-101.

"This was a big game because this is the start of a make or break road trip for us," said Jeff Mullins, whose feed to Nate Thurmond helped Chicago forward then poured in 10 points in the last three minutes, finishing the game with 30 points and leading Bulls to a 106-101 victory over the Trail Blazers.

Warriors 108, Bucks 105

Thurmond blocked a shot by Oscar Robertson then sank a layup after a feed from Mullins, giving Golden State a 105 victory over Milwaukee.

76ers 109, Kings 103

Larry Jones and Tom Van Arsdale each chipped in 10 points during a third-period surge, lifting Philadelphia to a 109-103 victory over Kansas City-Omaha.

Braves 127, Suns 100

Bob McAdoo fired in 26 points and grabbed 18 rebounds while Ernie DiGregorio had 18 points, eight assists and ran his consecutive free throw streak to 34, helping Buffalo romp over Phoenix 127-100.

Pacers 102, Stars 98

Kenyon "Jockey" Joyce's three-point basket tied the game at 80-80, climaxing an Indiana rally from 11 points down, and Bob Netolicky's seven points in the final two minutes carried the Pacers past Utah 102-98.

Cougars 113, Rockets 100

Billy Cunningham's 25 points and a Carolina defense that forced 27 Denver turnovers paced the Cougars to a 113-107 victory over Denver.

Blades had been playing in Madison Square Garden in New York but attendance was poor and the team owed the Garden more than $8,000. The WHA took over the club earlier this season when owners were unable to meet the first payroll.

"The Jersey Knights, for the present, represent a positive step for the WHA," Browitt said. "In taking this action, we have only one regret, that the WHA will not have a club in the New York Metropolitan area."

The Golden Blades had to fight the long-established New York Rangers and the young New York Islanders, both of which are in the New York area and lost.

A key to the poor attendance was the fact that the Golden Blades were forced to play many home games on Sunday afternoon, thereby also bucking pro football.

The Blades, 6-12-2, are in last place in the WHA East.

Leafs... Just Good Enough

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — period goals by Darryl Sittler and Lanny McDonald. Toronto now has won its last four games, and New York has lost four in a row.

In the only other NHL game Tuesday night, the Detroit Red Wings edged the Los Angeles Islanders 6-5.

In the World Hockey Association, the Edmonton Oilers beat the Cleveland Crusaders 5-3 and the Los Angeles Sharks defeated the Minnesota Fighting Saints 6-2.

Red Wings 6, Kings 5

The Red Wings notched their fifth victory in their past six games under new coach Alex Delvecchio by beating Los Angeles 6-5 at Detroit. Mickey Redmond and Nick Libett had two goals each for the Red Wings.

Oilers 5, Crusaders 3

Ron Climie hit for two goals and Eddie Joyal had two assists for the Oilers to score a 5-3 victory over the Cleveland Crusaders.

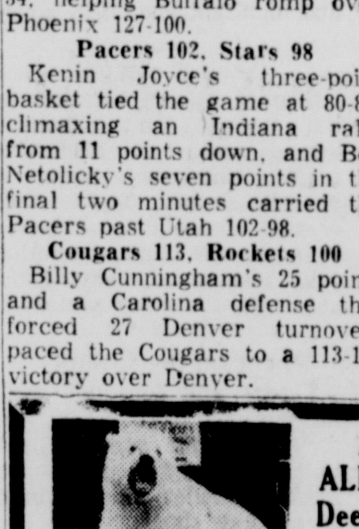

The game was marred by the injury of Cleveland's top scoring center, Ron Buchanan, who suffered a contusion of the spinal cord after falling head first into the end boards in the second period. Doctors said that he is expected to be hospitalized for at least two weeks.

Sharks 6, Saints 2

Ron Walters and Ron Ward scored 14 seconds apart in the second period to lead Los Angeles to its 6-2 victory over Minnesota. The two Sharks also took turns assisting each other on the record-setting goals.

Dolphins, Broncos and Falcons Favored in NFL

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — America's football widows may stage their own special Thanksgiving celebration next Tuesday after the holiday weekend menu on television that begins Thursday with two National Football League games — plus two college battles — and ends Monday night.

It may take some dial-switching, but football fanatics can watch the Washington Redskins at Detroit starting at 12:15 p.m., EST, Thursday, then see as many as eight more games through Monday night.

DOLPHINS 24, COWBOYS 20 — Miami (9-1) at Dallas (7-3) — A tough one to figure particularly since Dallas is playing better than originally forecast. The Dolphins could have a slight leadoff from clinching their third straight division title, but Miami has blanked its last two foes.

REDSKINS 21, LIONS 17 — Washington (7-3) at Detroit (4-5-1) — Washington certainly hasn't been brilliant this season, but George Allen and his Over-The-Hill Gang know this is a crucial game. And they also know that the Lions basically are a better team than their record indicates.

BROWNS 17, STEELERS 14 — Pittsburgh (8-2) at Cleveland (6-3-1) — The first game this season between these AFC Central rivals ended with Pittsburgh ahead 30-6. The Browns would like to reverse the outcome this time and, in this week's Upset Special, let's say Coach Nick Skorich's wish will come true.

BENGALS 31, CARDINALS 17 — St. Louis (3-6-1) at Cincinnati (6-4) — With some assistance from the team that bears his name, Paul Brown's Bengals, with a victory Sunday, could make it a dogfight in the AFC Central. The Cardinals should be more cooperative.

FALCONS 31, JETS 24 — Atlanta (7-3) at New York Jets (3-7) — General Grant took Richmond in the 19th century and Atlanta's field general, Robert M. Lee, will capture New York in the 20th, even if Joe Namath goes all the way.

BILLS 31, COLTS 13 — Buffalo (5-5) at Baltimore (2-8) — Another interdivisional rematch, and there's no reason to expect the outcome won't be the same. In case you've forgotten, Buffalo won the first time 31-13.

BRONCOS 21, CHIEFS 20 — Kansas City (6-3-1) at Denver (5-3-2) — The Chiefs barely squeaked by Denver 16-14 in Kansas City earlier this season.

It's a key game for both teams, have-nots Except Houston not only has more nots, it also has the knottier problems.

EAGLES 31, GIANTS 24 — New York Giants (2-7-1) at Philadelphia (3-6-1) — Speaking of nots, these two tied 23-23 earlier this year. If Roman Gabriel is healthy, Philadelphia will be, too.

RAIDERS 24, CHARGERS 10 — San Diego (2-7-1) at Oakland (5-4-1) — The Raiders have lost two straight en route from first to third place in the AFC West. But San Diego won't be able to make it three losses in a row.

for Oakland, even if it throws all that junk new coach Ron Weller came up with last Sunday.

VIKINGS 33, BEARS 14 — Chicago (3-7) at Minnesota (9-1) — Pity the poor Bears, because Minnesota won't after losing to the Falcons.

PACKERS 21, 49ERS 20 — Green Bay (3-5-2) at San Francisco (3-7) — The loser of this one on Monday night should get the El Floppo of the Year Award. A 0-0 score is not altogether facetious, but it's not sporting.

KINGSTONSecond place Spackenkill and he was hurt and then did a fantastic job. He made some mistakes, but he never made the same one twice.

"Herb Kantor and John Ivankovic were also two boys who did a job for us but weren't eye-catching as some," Hunter added.

Why weren't more Kingston players chosen? "I feel that my interest in Vince DeLuca (goalie) not being mentioned," said KHS coach John Hunter. "He took as possible cost us the outstanding statistics that are needed to impress coaches," Hunter surmised. "We scored 38 goals and Herb was involved in 15 of these. This has to say something about the boy's ability. It's not as if we were on the bottom of the pack."

First team pick Steve Kantor scored two goals and had six assists for the third place Maroons.

"He was one of the finest halfbacks to play at Kingston," Hunter said. "He's a great leaper with good ball control, who time and again picked us up with a great move. His long crosses to his brother Herb on the right wing surprised many teams."

Roncancio's "fancy play and tremendous hustle drew the eye of every coach," Hunter remarked about his second team pick. The senior had four goals and five assists.

Of his two honorable mention players Hunter noted that Hel-

McClendon Thinks Alabama Is 'Best'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — "Every week it seems like someone has asked me about Alabama," says Coach Charles McClendon of seventh-ranked Louisiana State.

"Well, this week I can answer them," he added.

And, McClendon's answer on the eve of a Thanksgiving night showdown with the No. 2 Crimson Tide for the Southeastern Conference football crown is, "I think they are the best team in America."

The two undefeated Southern powers, among a handful of teams retaining a shot at the mythical national championship, will square off with depth-laden squads at 6:35 p.m., EST Thursday in a nationally televised (ABC) game that is expected to lure a capacity crowd of 67,510 into Tiger Stadium.

An Alabama victory — and the Tide is favored by two touchdowns — would be the 500th triumph in the school's history, making it only the eighth college team ever to attain that milestone. The others include a quartet of Ivy League teams that were playing before Alabama started the game — Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania — plus Michigan, Notre Dame and Texas.

"We've made news this year by playing a lot of people," drawls Paul "Bear" Bryant, the crusty Tide coach who has five games, come into the contest with only four days' rest after beating Arizona 27-26.

The 11th-ranked Texas Longhorns go into their contest with the Aggies as two-touchdown favorites. The Longhorns, 7-2, already have clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title and a host berth in the Cotton Bowl opposite Nebraska.

LSU ranks No. 1 in the SEC in rushing defense, yielding 129 yards per game, and Alabama is second with 131. Linebacker Warren Capone and tackle Steve Cassidy spearheaded the Bengal defense and linebacker Woodrow Lowe, called by Bryant another Lee Roy Jordan, and tackle Mike Raines spark the Tide defenders.

In other Thanksgiving day games, Air Force is at Notre Dame. Texas meets Texas A&M. Ohio University travels to Marshall and Utah State is at Southern Mississippi.

Notre Dame, fifth ranked in the Associated Press poll and bound for the Sugar Bowl against Alabama, is heavily favored to run its season record to 9-0. But the Irish first will have to shake out the cobwebs of 12 days of idleness since their 31-10 victory over Pittsburgh.

Meanwhile, the surprising Falcons, who won their past

Three Horses Shot in Vermont

HARTFORD, Vt. (UPI) — Three race horses valued at $34,000 were found shot to death at a private track here Sunday night, police reported Monday.

A police spokesman said the horses were owned by Ralph Battaro of Agawam, Mass., and were used for harness racing at many East Coast tracks.

They were found in the oval of Battaro's private track by a trainer several hours after being shot with a heavy caliber weapon, the spokesman said. He said authorities have been unable to establish a motive for the shootings.

"It's really too bad. They were beautiful horses," he said. Officers from the state Bureau of Criminal Investigation were called in to help local police investigate the shootings.

Albany Dumps Bard, 96-74

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dave Kravinski pumped in 24 points to spark Albany College of Pharmacy to a 96-74 college basketball victory over Bard College Tuesday.

Mike Calverly, Birgit Stein, Rich Zaleski and Jerry Stover joined Kravinski in double figures.

Jim Pouchi led Bard with 19 points.

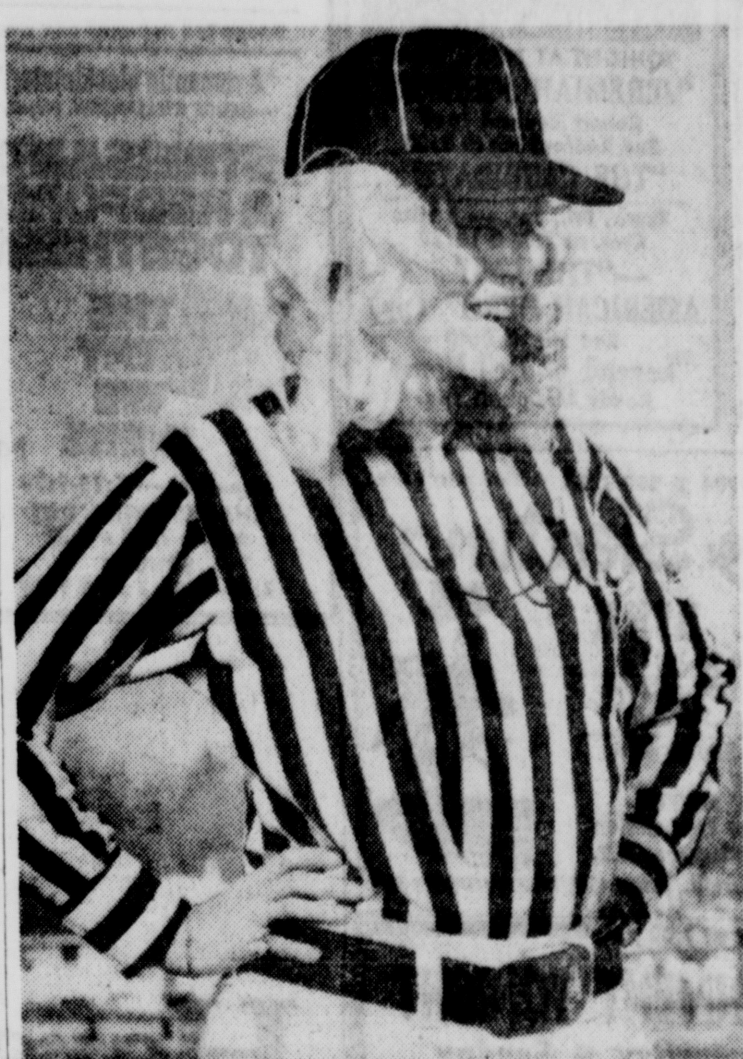

DCSL's Ketcham High 19th in NY State Poll

KINGSTON before the list can be finalized.

Dutchess County Scholastic League champion Roy C. Ketcham High has moved into 19th place in the New York State Sports Writers Association large school football poll.

Ketcham, which won the DCSL title with a 7-1 record, one game better than second place Kingston, defeated Yonkers Lincoln, 26-14, in Saturday's Section One Class AA Bowl to convince pollsters to raise the Wappingers Falls team up from the honorable mention ranks.

Kingston, which was 7-2 overall, held its honorable mention status in this the next to last large school poll of the season. Several key Nassau County games are remaining

Hurley Hockey Opener Jan. 7

The Hurley Hockey League will begin its second season on Jan. 7, and already 96 players and a refurbished rink are awaiting the action.

Twelve teams in four age groups have been formed with workouts scheduled to begin during the end of December. They will operate on a rink with a new sand base and improved goal areas. Pro type nets have been ordered, and two full sets of goalie equipment will be provided for the three younger age groups.

Program supervisor Dan Caragher has announced games will be played four nights a week under the lights as well as on weekend mornings.

Here's the 5% Christmas Club that's more than a 5% Christmas Club.

For lots of people saving a certain amount every week is the best way to plan for the future.
Certainly, one of the big events in the future is next Christmas, when we all become Santa for a day. But just think of all the other uses to which you can put the money you've saved. Here are some other ways to use a Christmas Club:

- (✓) Income Tax Payments Club
- (✓) Real Estate Tax Payments Club
- (✓) Winter Vacation Club
- (✓) Get Out From Under a Lot of Debts Club
- (✓) Down Payment on a New Car Club

- (✓) Down Payment on a New House Club
- (✓) Down Payment on a Travel
Trailer Club
- (✓) Second Term College Tuition Club
- (✓) Junior's Teeth Need Orthodontia Club
- (✓) It's Nice to Have Some Extra Cash at this Time of Year Club

So, in addition to the few dollars you might be putting aside each week in our Christmas Club for Christmas gifts — put aside a few more for all the other extra needs. With the 5% interest your Christmas Club will be earning, next year you'll be glad you did!

It's time to join the Christmas Club at Bankers Trust.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Much poor judgment is possible for most of us now, but there is an excellent chance to overcome this by being very quiet and listening to hunches. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are ambitious to get things done now, but don't rely too much on friends who are busy with own affairs. Keep promises; renegeing could have dire results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to blast off at an associate, but this could sever relationship unwisely. Forget your prejudices and see the matter in its proper light. Cooperate. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Stick to work instead of going off on some tangent that could be expensive. Take treatment to calm nerves. Have poise, good sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't force friends to do what you like in your anxiety and desire for a good time. Reach a happy mutual understanding. Go Dutch treat. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being demanding at home could create big arguments best avoided, so get out early. Make hay while the sun shines. Use care in motion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy at routines but don't suddenly feel you have to use unorthodox methods. Being overly critical of others could get you into a peck of trouble. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Money problems can disturb. Stick to work instead of going off on some tangent that could be expensive. Take treatment to calm nerves. Have poise, good sense.

Don't force others to your way of thinking, but see their side as well. Become more successful this way. Handle situation at home intelligently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Secret planning can make the future brighter. Talk matters over wisely with expert and seek advice of a good pal also.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Relying on a clever friend is wise now so you gain your personal desires. Don't take anything for granted. Show respect for the law.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Change your point of view to improve vocational and credit affairs. Don't permit some disturbed person to waste your time. Take a more positive approach toward others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find a new and more fascinating way of keeping promises made for better results. Hunches are good now, but use sound judgment as well. Relax to night.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will like to jump into anything and everything without much planning, so teach early to deliberate first, then act with caution, sureness, and the fine promise in this chart is realized. Give his own margarine.

Barbs

By PHIL PASTORET

Long-handed underwear will make a comeback if the oil shortage tightens up just a little bit more.

There are many Christmas toys made to sell — and a lot fewer made to truly play with. Neighborhood gossips are babbling about the gal with the new mink stole — but she's only too glad to take the wrap.

An old-timer is anyone who recalls when one had to color his own margarine.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

UNINVITED: (Q.) I am sexy, pretty, smart and alluring. My parents are real well off and we have a big home. All the boys I know are super dumb. So are the girls at my school. The girls, and the boys, too, don't talk to me or invite me over.

I know I am better than they are, but I would like some companionship. Please give me an answer.—13. Pretty and Upset in Indiana.

(A.) So long as you think you are BETTER than those around you, you are going to be in trouble. You are setting yourself apart. No human being who does that gets along happily with others.

You may be more fortunate in some ways than the boys and girls you know, but you are not better. Stop telling yourself you are. Then join them, be one of them, listen to them, let them help you. That is the way to LIVE.

EYE SHADOW: (Q.) I am almost 14 but my mother won't let me wear eye shadow. All my friends do. The only time she let me was for my graduation dance.—Plain Eyes in Maryland.

(A.) You don't say which graduation. From your age I gather it must have been grade school. Eye makeup for a big event is a good tonic for a very young girl but she really does not need it for everyday use.

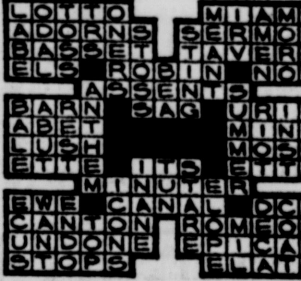

When you reach 14, talk to your mother again about eye shadow, used sparingly and with good taste.

After West opens a heart the ordinary declarer is likely to remark, "Partner, we didn't bid enough."

The very careful declarer will review the bidding and come to the conclusion that there is a good chance to find both the diamond and spade suit second diamond can't be breaking 4-1. In that case, if played, he simply tries to draw trumps he is likely to wind up one or two tricks short at his game contract.

Now let's look at the various ways to safeguard the contract. Suppose East leads a club or a second heart at trick two. In that case the safety play is to duck one trump. This will cost a trick or tricks if trumps break 3-2, but it will take care of a 4-1 break.

Suppose East makes the brilliant return of his singleton diamond. How should South play the hand against this defense?

He goes up with his diamond queen; leads a high trump and continues with a low trump.

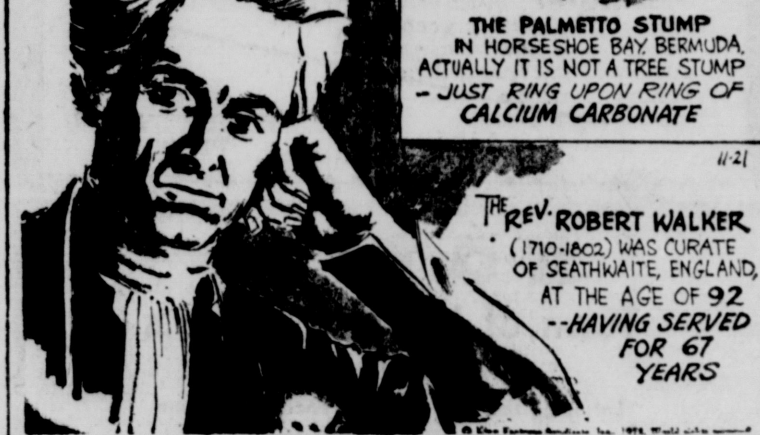

If trumps break 3-2 there will be only one trump out against him. If a diamond is led and ruffed it will be the third and last defensive trick. If the diamond is not ruffed South just plays more diamonds until someone does ruff.

Actually, trumps break 4-1. If the man with four trumps started with two diamonds he can lead a second diamond and fix declarer's wagon, but players just aren't that good. The diamond lead almost had a good chance to find both the diamond and spade suit second diamond can't be breaking 4-1. In that case, if played,

Nixon Promises More Watergate Facts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is planning a further series of news conferences, statements and "white papers" to explain his role in the Watergate scandal and answer other charges of wrongdoing against him.

White House aides confirmed the impression Nixon left with a group of Republican governors at a meeting Tuesday in Memphis, Tenn., that he still plans a widespread campaign to tell his side of the Watergate story to the public.

They said plans were not yet complete on how and when disclosures would be made.

In other Watergate developments: —Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, indicating he is getting close to asking for a grand jury indictment, told senators the White House has warned him that part of his investigation treads on national security secrets. He said he may ask the courts to settle that issue, and he made clear he is growing impatient with White House delays in giving him information.

The governors, who had a private, give and take session with Nixon for almost two hours, said he expressed willingness to meet informally with Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr. and Howard R. Baker, the two ranking members of the Senate Watergate committee. But he reportedly has decided not to grant the committee's request for an informal session with the full panel.

The state chief executives attending the Republican Governors' Association meeting appeared heartened by what they learned from Nixon. They said he only "broad brushed" the specific issues but described him as relaxed and confident that both he and the Republican Party would ride out the current storm.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., wasn't that confident. "I'm not sure 'operation candor' will in itself do it," he said. "He has to demonstrate in a series of incidents that he is a real leader." He told UPI Nixon had not "ruled out" a public interrogation before the full Watergate committee.

Nixon returned to Washington immediately following the governors meeting. He scheduled a session today with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to discuss Kissinger's recent visits to the Middle East and Peking and was expected to fly to Camp David at mid-afternoon for a long Thanksgiving holiday with his family.

★ ★ GOP Governors Are Believers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The motto of this old river town is "Believe in Memphis." Sixteen Republican governors listened to President Nixon explain Watergate here for two hours Tuesday and left Memphis as believers.

"Everything we could think of to ask him on Watergate we went over, and I think there was general satisfaction on the part of the governors," Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon told reporters after the closed-door meeting.

"I think they left with a sense of relief that the President is leveling," said McCall, who had declared Sunday that he would be no party to "knee-jerk partisan adulation" when it came time to assess the President's role in Watergate.

Nixon, fully launched on his new strategy of taking his defense to the public in open forums and to Republicans in private sessions, obviously was pleased with his day's work.

He read pro-Nixon signs held up by the welcoming crowd of about 3,000 at the high-rise motel where the Republican Governors Association had been meeting for three days. After his session with the governors, he jauntily stepped down a spiral flight of stairs to the lobby, where he hopped up on the edge of a wishing well and walked around the low curved wall, shaking hands with the crowd.

Then he dug in his pocket for change to drop in the well for the local boys' club, but came up empty and threw up his hands in mock dismay, announcing, "I haven't got any money."

Most of the governors who spoke to reporters after the meeting said they were satisfied with Nixon's replies to their questions—detailed on such matters as what happened to the two missing Watergate tapes and how much public money went into his San Clemente home — and his pledges of documented answers to questions about the ITT affair, the milk price increase and his personal financial status.

REBOZO (L), PRESIDENT NIXON

FBI Remains Quiet On Rebozo Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an oft-stated policy of candor, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says the agency will tell the public nothing about a Miami FBI agent's contacts with President Nixon's friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Kelley directed Tuesday that the agency refuse answers to several key questions which could either support or contradict an account Nixon has given a group of Republican congressmen.

At Kelley's order, FBI spokesmen say they will not answer the questions because of the confidentiality of a Senate Watergate committee staff interview with the agent, Kenneth W. Whittaker, who is in charge of the Miami office.

But Robert Franck, assistant FBI director in charge of the external affairs division, said the committee had not requested the FBI to keep silent about Whittaker's controls with Rebozo.

W. Hall Smith, a spokesman for committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., said he was amazed that the FBI would cite the committee staff interview as a reason for refusing to answer questions about the situation.

Franck said the fact that Nixon himself first mentioned the episode does not alter Kelley's decision for secrecy.

NEW 12 GALLON VACUUM CLEANER KIT

The ultimate in cleaning power for the home

Model VAC-12AK: The home and shop vacuum cleaner with industrial power by TOOLKRAFT. Equipped with heavy-duty motor of ball bearing construction, this super-powered giant twelve gallon vacuum makes short work of any heavy-duty assignment that would wreck an ordinary vacuum. With its sturdy all-steel canister and heavy gauge hose, the VAC-12K gulps down sawdust, metal shavings, leaves, grass clippings, fireplace ash, gravel, cinders, even nails and broken glass. Use it in the basement, attic, laundry room, workshop, garage, driveway, porch, patio. Pull dirt from upholstered furniture and auto interiors that an ordinary vacuum won't touch. The most powerful and versatile machine of its kind comes complete with easy rolling white-wall tires and caster, heavy-duty hose and wands, three cornered nozzle, and adaptor for use with smaller household accessories.
